PATENTS obtained for mechanical devices, medical, or other compounds, ornamental designs, trade-marks, and labels. Caveats, Assignments, Interferences, etc promptly attended to.
REJECTED inventions that have been by the Patent Office may still, in most cases, be secured by us. Being opposite the Patent Office, we can make closer searches, and secure Patents more promptly and with broader claims than those who are remote from Washington.
INVENTORS send us a model or sketch of your device; we make examinations free of charge and advise as to patentability. All correspondence strictly confidential. Prices low, AND NO CHARGE UNLESS PATENT IS SECURED.
We refer to officials in the Patent Office, and to inventors in every State in the Union.

Mr. L takes pleasure in informing his numerous friends and patrons of his award of the Highest Premium with silver medal at the recent great New England Fair. Considering as he does this well earned tribute as an incident in his career especially worthy of note as the competition was particularly earnest and powerful, as is so well known to all who attended the Fair and examined the beautiful specimens of photo-art, so numerous and excellent as to excite the remark and wonder of all! Many strangers and travellers stating that they had visited most of the important industrial and art exhibitions of all countries, they had never seen the department of Photography excelled and seldom equalled, especially as regarded Photo-Portraiture.

THE
Union Lubricator
MANUFACTURING COMPANY.
The thoroughly tested Lubricator, for Steam and Street Cars, Paper, Rolling, Cotton and Woolen Mills, Sugar Refineries, Gas Works, Brick Yards, Dredging Machines, and for all Machinery with heavy bearings. Also for Carriages, Wagons, Carts, Drays, etc.
This Lubricator combines economy, durability, and perfect lubrication without friction, gumming or running. The absence of all friction renders it an indispensable auxiliary for cooling journals and boxes on Steam Cars. The coldest weather has no effect on this Lubricator.
It has been conceded by those that have thoroughly tested this article, that it is superior to any lubricator offered to the public, and that it is a saving of 30 to 50 per cent.
The Company manufactures three different grades, designed severally for Steam and Horse Cars, Machinery, Trucks, Drays, Carriages, &c., all of which secured by Letters Patent, granted 1876.
All goods guaranteed as represented and put up in convenient packages for the trade.
Orders addressed to the Union Lubricator Co., No. 6 Haymarket Square, Boston, will be promptly attended to.
We are permitted to refer to the following:
PORTLAND, June 15, 1877.
To the Union Lubricator Co., 6 Haymarket Square, Boston:
We have thoroughly tested your Lubricator on our road and find it to be of great merit, running 6 weeks and over 3000 miles without replenishing, thereby saving in time and expense. We can safely recommend its use on all railways.

THE PRESS.

FRIDAY MORNING, OCT. 19.

We do not read anonymous letters and communications. The name and address of the writer are in all cases indispensable, not necessarily for publication but as a guaranty of good faith.

We cannot undertake to return or preserve communications that are not used.

EVERY regular attaché of the PRESS is furnished with a Card certificate countersigned by Stanley T. Pullen, Editor. All railway, steamboat and hotel managers will confer a favor upon us by demanding credentials of every person claiming to represent our journal.

The Contested Seats.

The Democrats in the House evidently feel uneasy about their small majority and are bent on increasing it by questionable means. In pursuance of this purpose they have admitted to seats two men from Louisiana, Elam and Robertson, who were clearly not elected. Although the contestants had regular credentials they were refused a hearing. An attempt was made to exclude Cain and Rainy, the colored representatives from South Carolina, but it was so evidently an outrage that a part of the Democracy refused to support it, and so the attempt failed. Had these Republican representatives been white men they would undoubtedly have been excluded from the seats which rightfully belonged to them. But the southern leaders thought it a shrewd move to admit these men and then proclaim that the South had risen superior to the prejudice of race. There was no hesitation in excluding Purman of Florida, who was declared elected by the board of canvassers, the legality of which has never been successfully disputed, and who holds a certificate of election from Gov. Stearns. His Democratic competitor, Davidson, was admitted without question. The attempt was even made to reject Pacheco, the Californian, though the legality of his election has been affirmed by the supreme court of his state. He was however permitted to take his seat, some of the Democrats refusing to consent to so evident a fraud as his exclusion. Though there was no scruple as to rejecting Nash and Smith of Louisiana and Purman of Florida though they held the Governor's certificate of election, the Democratic majority absolutely refused to take any notice of the cases, some half dozen, where Republicans contest the seats of Democrats who hold certificates from the Governors of their states. There is reason to fear too, that the fairness shown toward the South Carolina representatives is more apparent than real and that they will be deprived of their seats by the committee on contested elections.

But a case of even greater injustice than those cited is afforded in the refusal to place the name of Mr. Belford, Republican of course, of Colorado, upon the roll of the House. Mr. Belford was duly and legally elected and holds the sole certificate issued in the case, and yet the Democratic majority refuse to admit him. The State of Colorado was excluded from representation last winter, for when Mr. Belford appeared to fill out the short term for which he was elected, the Democratic committee to whom his case was referred neglected to report till the end of the session. Then, forced by the justness of his credentials, they unanimously reported in favor of seating him. He now appears for the long term, and they seem minded to repeat the outrage and debar Colorado of her rightful voice in the House. The pretext for their course is of the flimsiest. Colorado held her State and Congressional elections in October, 1876, when Mr. Belford was chosen to fill out the unexpired term of the last Congress and to the full term of the present. He had a majority of 894 over Patterson, his Democratic opponent,—a majority that has never been called in question. After the election Patterson made the claim that the election was illegal, and that a Congressman must be chosen at the Presidential election in November, though he had by his candidacy and canvass acknowledged the legality of the previous date. To this absurd claim the Republicans paid no attention. Patterson announced himself as a candidate and polled 2000 votes in November, though 26,000 were cast the month before. On the strength of this pretended ballot, and without any certificate, he asks for admission, and every Democrat in the House, in spite of the fact that a Democratic committee last session unanimously decided in favor of the Republican claimant, votes against the seating of Mr. Belford. If this proceeding is a fair illustration of the purposes of the new House, the sooner we are delivered from it the better.

EVEN in the present days of political liberty it is somewhat unusual to find the son of a great English ducal family publicly condemning the action of the party, be it Whig or Tory, with which the head of that family has always acted. Lord Randolph Churchill son of the Duke of Marlborough, being M. P. for the family pocket-borough of Woodstock, which lies at the very gate of Blenheim, lately made a speech at an agricultural show in that place, in which he frankly said: "It is the negligence, perhaps the intentional negligence, of Irish legislation that has produced the obstruction of English legislation, and so long as the British government neglected Irish interests they must expect obstruction and opposition." These words from a Tory M. P., and the son of the Viceroy of Ireland, were wholly unexpected, and then truth gives them weight. For the son to be liberal in politics, while the father was on the reverse, is not a novelty in the Marlborough family. In 1845 the present Duke, then Marquis of Blandford, M. P. for Woodstock, having declared in favor of free trade while his father was a strong protectionist, had to resign his seat in the Commons, but was permitted to resume it two years later, after Sir Robert Peel had yielded the corn laws to the pressure from without, of which Messrs. Cobden, Bright, and Charles Villiers were the leaders.

THE long strike in the coal regions is rapidly nearing its end, and it is likely that by the close of the week work will be resumed in all the mines. In a few localities the intractables still delay the resumption of industry, but the ranks of those who desire to return to work are fast filling up, and the malcontents are losing control of the situation. The fact that longer delay involves the loss of pay during the month of November, and consequently much greater privation than has yet been experienced, is an element of the situation which the men can ill afford to ignore, especially as their chances of success will hardly be improved by the lapse of another thirty days, with the rigors of winter then staring them in the face. They have made a protracted and desperate fight, and though some of their methods of warfare have not been at all commendable, it is probable that they really deserve a better fate than utter failure, and that there is more of justice in their demands than appears on the surface at this distance. Men do not submit to privation and grow desperate merely for the purpose of senselessly warring upon capital.

THE state of Tennessee reads Secretary Sherman a very fine moral lecture, and if he has any conscience at all he will step down from his office to give place to a representative Tennesseean. Secretary Sherman has been engaged in the nefarious scheme of bringing our currency up to par in gold, so that we might resume specie payments thereby. But here he is met by the watchful patriotism and vigilant honesty of Tennessee, which has borrowed some $25,000,000 without any visible resources for paying it. Tennessee is willing, nay anxious, to pay its debts as they fall due—although no one has ever seen any effort in this direction—and it tells us that it is foiled by the policy of Secretary Sherman, and that the only reason why it cheats its creditors is because Secretary Sherman avoids cheating the creditors of the government. This is really a very hard condition of affairs, and no doubt the state of Tennessee has been misrepresented, but it would look a little bit better if a state which rests under the stigma of repudiation would not assume airs of superior virtue in rebuking the federal government for presuming to be honest.

CROP reports are so far completed that the yield of wheat for the current year is considered certain not to fall below 325,000,000 bushels and that of corn 1,280,000,000. This is much the largest harvest of wheat ever gathered in this country, but the yield of corn falls below that of the two past seasons. With such an enormous production of the prime necessities of life the future ought to be bright and hopeful.

THE SILVER COMMISSION.

The report of Jones's silver commission was completed Tuesday. It makes a book of 200 pages. The commision recommend the restoration of double standard and unrestricted coinage, both of gold and silver, but are unable to agree as to the relative value which should be fixed by law. The commission do not suppose it possible to maintain paper in actual concurrent circulation with coin, unless it is made equal in value to coin by actual convertibility into it. The fourth question covers the best means for providing for facilitating the resumption of specie payments. Opinions upon this point are various and contradictory. The commission conclude that resumption in this country, is not practicable under the circumstances until the existing laws making gold a legal tender are repealed. The total inadequacy of gold alone is apparent. Germany, Great Britain and France are the only countries which have any considerable quantity of it. The maximum estimates of the amounts they have in coins and bars do not exceed thirteen hundred millions. The commission thinks the quantities in the western world are much exaggerated. The commission believes that the remonetization of silver will have a powerful influence in preventing, and probably will prevent, the demonetization of silver in France and other European countries, in which a double standard is still legally and theoretically maintained. But if, notwithstanding remonetizing here, further European demonetization shall take place, the result for us will be an advantageous exchange of commodities which we can spare for money, which we need. Finally, the commission believe that the fact that Germany and the Scandinavian States have adopted a single gold standard, and that some other European nations may possibly adopt it, instead of being reasons for perseverence in the attempt to establish it in the United States, are precisely the facts which make such an attempt entirely impracticable and ruinous. To propose to this country a contest for a gold standard with European nations is to propose to it a disastrous race in reducing the prices of labor and commodities, in aggravating the burden of debt, in the diminution and concentration of wealth, in which all contestants will suffer immeasurably, and the victors even more than the vanquished. The report is signed by John P. Jones, Lewis V. Bogy, George Willard, R. P Bland and William S. Groesbeck.

THE NOMINATION OF GENERAL HARLAN

Associate Justice of the Supreme Court is pretty well received by a large number of Republican Senators, and by a majority of the Democratic side. A few of the latter will oppose him and quite a number of the former. The Republican opposition is based mainly upon the fact that he was a member of the Louisiana commission, and, as an investigation of of that settlement is to be attempted next week, it is likely that final action upon the nomination will be delayed for some time. Gen. Harlan is about 42 years old. His parents were natives of Kentucky, and his father (James Harlan) was the Whig politician who represented the Mercer district in Congress from 1836 to 1839. His father was also Secretary of State of Kentucky from 1840 to 1844, and from 1850 to the time of his death in 1863 he was Attorney General of the State. Harlan county, Ky., was named after Gen. Harlan's grand-uncle, who fell in a battle with Indians at Blue Lick. In 1859, when only 24 years of age, Gen. Harlan ran for Congress in the Fayette District on the Opposition ticket, and, after a hard fight, was defeated by the Democratic candidate by a majority of only 67, in a total vote of 13,797. When the war broke out he served for two years as a Colonel in the 10th Kentucky Infantry. The death of his father then compelled him to tender his resignation. On returning to civil life Gen. Harlan settled his father's estate, and in the same year (1863) he was elected Attorney General of the state. At the close of his term he removed to Louisville, and returned to the practice of law. Gen Harlan is probably the best orator in Kentucky, and is one of the most successful members of the bar in that state. In 1871 and 1875 he was the Republican candidate for Governor of Kentucky. Gen. Harlan is about six feet high, and weighs, perhaps 225 pounds. He has good humored, expressive blue eyes, fair complexion and hair, a large head, massive, lofty forehead, deep chest and broad shoulders.

THE AUBURN ABORTION CASE.

[Special Despatch to the Press.]

LEWISTON, Oct. 18.—At 4 o'clock this afternoon the coroner's jury of inquest on the case of Miss Lizzie M. Holmes, rendered their verdict. It found that Miss Holmes came to her death by the use of some surgical instrument in the hands of Mrs. Mary M. Lamb or her husband Mr. Joseph A. Lamb, for the purpose of procuring an abortion. That Mr. John F. Foss was accessory to the deed in furnishing means for carrying it out.

At 10 o'clock this morning a warrant was issued and Mr. John F. Foss, Mr. Joseph A. Lamb and Mrs. Mary M. Lamb were arrested and lodged in jail on a charge of murder. Mrs. Lamb being confined to her bed on account of sickness was not taken to jail, but was placed in the charge of a keeper.

Friday morning they will have a hearing before Judge Cornish of the Municipal Court. The case has created considerable excitement in town. The feeling prevails that a most disreputable establishment has been broken up. It is so difficult to get hold of the guilty parties in cases like this that it is probable a severe example will be made. Mr. Foss, the supposed paramour of Miss Holmes, is a man of about thirty-five years of age. He is a married man and has two children, one a daughter thirteen years old. His wife has been for some little time living in Winthrop. It is reported they were divorced not long ago. The text of the verdict is as follows:

The jurors find that Lizzie Maud Holmes of Auburn, in county of Androscoggin, being pregnant with child, came to her death by means of an abortion procured by the use of some instrument to the jurors unknown, used upon the body of her, the said Lizzie Maud Holmes, by Joseph A. Lamb and Mary M. Lamb, both of said Lewiston; and the jurors aforesaid further find that John F. Foss of Lewiston aforesaid, in the county of Androscoggin, was accessory thereto before the fact.

Certain letters have been found implicating other parties.

FARMERS IN COUNCIL.

Meeting of the Board of Agriculture at Alfred.

ALFRED, Oct. 18.—This morning the citizens of Alfred took their guests of the board in carriages, first to visit those good farmers and good citizens, the Shakers. The company found a right cordial welcome, were shown through the buildings of the community, the various industries were explained, the grounds and premises were viewed and some examination made of the orchards and nearest fields. The school in this district, the scholars being nearly all from the Shaker community, has a neat and excellently appointed building, and under the tuition of Elder Vance, is admirably managed, being quite a model in enterprise and progress. From the Shakers the cortege proceeded to the famous cranberry meadow of A. K. Gile, Esq., of Alfred, where nearly two hours were spent in examining the grounds and the mode of gathering, drying and sorting the fruit. The readers of the PRESS have recently seen an account of the admirable appliances invented by Mr. Gile for gathering and preparing for the market his cranberry crop. The large company of visitors this morning were greatly surprised and delighted at the series of ingenious contrivances which they saw in full operation, and that so reduced the expense, lessen the time and render easy and pleasant the needed labor of gathering the valuable crop. A new field adjoining Mr. Gile's is just now being prepared and thus afforded a rare opportunity to observe the working of Mr. Gile s improved appliances for cutting and removing the tough, matted meadow sward. The members or the board were so impressed with the value of the methods and machinery used by Mr. Gile, that he was urged to present an essay at the next meeting of the board descriptive of what he has accomplished.

A year ago a committee of the board was raised to visit the College and suggest a series of farm experiments. This committee eventually left the matter of the experiments with the faculty of the College, and the students this afternoon gave a report of the results, some of them being the conclusion of tests that have been going on at the College for several years. The exercises of the afternoon were conducted by Prof. Allen, and the essays read were highly creditable to the students. The first experiment was to test the value of cooked and uncooked meal as food for swine. The experiment continued yearly for seven years and resulted in favor of raw meal moistened with cold water in a ratio of about 75 to 100.

The second experiment was to determine the best top dressing for grass. The result showed the rank of fertilizers as follows: (1.) Cow manure; (2.) horse manure; (3.) fine old muck. The experiment covered five seasons.

Next were experiments in seeding and cultivating potatoes. Medium sized potatoes were proved best cut in two pieces. Surface dropped covered four inches, led those beneath surf ace pointed hills better than flat in every case. Large potatoes cut across the but-end proved more productive than the seed-end.

Mr. Keyes of the Sophomore class gave very handsomely an extemporaneous account of experiments on corn produced with the use of Stockbridge's fertilizer, giving on the whole, a result in favor of the fertilizer.

The test next given on potatoes showed that the Stockbridge fertilizer containing nitrogen, phosphoric acid in potash gave good results and better than either element seperately. Another experiment showed that with potatoes, beans and turnips on a sandy loam showed fertilizers a net gain; and greatest net gain by a large percentage in the use of phosphoric acid, except in the case of ruta-bagas where nitrogen and phosphoric acid mixed did better than phosphoric acid alone.

The sugar beet culture experiments seem decidedly to encourage the introduction here of an industry which has proved so productive in other countries.

XLVth CONGRESS-Extra Session.

SENATE.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18.

During the morning hour a number of bills were introduced and referred. Among them one by Mr. Christiancy of Michigan, to enlarge the jurisdiction of the court of claims.

The Vice President laid before the Senate a message from the President of the United States transmitting the report of the board appointed by the Secretary of the Interor to examine into the cause of the recent fire at the patent office building. Referred

Also a message from the President enclosing the report of the Secretary of the Navy setting forth the particulars of existing difficulties in the appriations for navy. Referred.

Bills introduced:—By Mr. Merrimon, prescribing an oath of office, also granting pensions to certain soldiers and sailors of the war with Mexico, and to Widows of deceased soldiers.

Mr. Davis of West Virginia submitted a resolution stating that there appeared to be material differencies, alterations and discrepancies in the financial reports of the Treasury department, and authorizing the appointment of a special committee to investigate such financial reports, books and accounts of the Treasury Department.

In explanation Mr. Davis said it was similar to the resolution offered by him at the previous sessions. He had used all his powers to have such a resolution passed, but failed. He believed there were material alterations in the treasury accounts and even forced balances.

It was ordered that the resolution be printed and lie on the table.

Mr. Davis gave notice that he would call it up at an early day and submit some remarks in regard thereto.

At the expiration of the morning hour the Senata resumed the consideration of the resolution submitted by Mr. Thurman to have the oath administered to Henry M. Spofford as Senator from Louisiana, the pending question being on the substitute of Mr. Mitchell to refer his credentials to the committee on elections.

After debate the substitute was agreed to, yeas 36, nays 33, and the credentials of Spofford were referred.

Nays—Messrs. Armstrong, Bailey, Barnum, Bayard, Beck, Cockrell, Coke, Davis of Ill., Davis of W. Va., Dennis, Eaton, Garland, Grover, Harris, Hereford, Hill, Jones of Fla., Kernan, Lamar, McCreery, McDonald, McPherson, Maxey, Merrimon, Morgan, Randolph, Ransom, Saulsbury, Sherman, Wallace and Withers—33 (Windom paired with Johnston).

During the discussion which preceded the vote Mr. Edmunds asked Mr. Thurman to state the difference between these credentials and those of Mr. Kellogg referred at the last session to the committee on privileges and elections.

Mr. Thurman argued that the legislature which elected Mr. Spofford had been recognized as the legal legislature of the state by all her courts and all her people. Mr. Spofford received the votes of all the members of the legislature except 13. He was elected not by Democratic votes alone, but received the votes of an immense majority of the Republican me mber of that assembly.

Mr. Edmunds said that Mr. Kellogg's credentials on their face certainly bore some evidence of being valid. The Senators on one side of the chamber said last spring that the matter needed inquiry. Now those same Senators said that the Louisiana Senatorship ought to be decided without inquiry at all.

Mr. Mitchell argued that Mr. Spofford's credentials did not constitute a prima facie case upon which he should be sworn in.

Mr. Bayard argued that Mr Spofford had a prma facie case and said the affairs of Louisiana had in the minds of the American people received absolute and final settlement. He knew how nearly balanced the political power stood in the Senate, and yet he begged the Senators to believe him when he declared that he would not by any questionable act give the weight of his little finger to obtain that power for the party with which he acted. The man was blind who did not see that the drift of the public opinion in this country was against all political scheming. Did not the interest of this country require that the best energies of every Senator should be bent in behalf of the people and those passions aroused by party strife be hushed. There was no need of further argument. There was no need of further evidence in this Louisiana case. The Senators could not turn their backs to facts which no one denied. Messrs. Howe and Christiancy favored a reference of the credentials.

After the vote Mr. Whyte submitted a resolution refering the credentials, &c., and that said committee report thereon on or before the first day of November 1877.

Mr. Mitchell, acting chairman of the committee, said he was afraid it would not give the committee time enough.

The discussion was continued by Mr. Wadleigh who said that it might be that he as a member of the committee would not come to the conclusion that the removal of a state government in Louisiana by military force would settle for the Senate the question of who was entitled to a seat therein. He did not think the White League of Louisiana, with its bayonets, revolvers and guns, could decide for him who was entitled to a seat in the Senate from that state. But for the pressure of the League the Packard government would have remained the government in fact as he believed it was in law. The proceeding under which Kellogg was elected Senator was valid and correct in form. The testimony in the Louisiana case covered thousands of pages and the committee could not examine all of it and report to the Senate by Nov. 1st.

Mr. Edmunds said he had been taught to believe that the adoption of such a resolution would be virtually an affront to the committee. The Senate might as well say that the committee should report immediately as to say it should report by the first of November. Was it now thought best not to inquire anything about who was legally elected Senator from Louisiana, but to take the last chap who appeared as the true saint? That might be the Democratic doctrine, but he did not agree to it.

Mr. Gordon inquired if any day could be fixed for the committee to report on the credentials of Spofford. (Several Senators on the Republican side—No, none whatever.)

Mr. Thurman said that at no time since '73 had the state of Louisiana more than one Senator on this floor. He referred to the various investigations in regard to that state, and said, now after all these years of inquiry, we are told that this able committee cannot make a report by November 1st. Every material fact was before the Senate already, and the Senators were simply shutting their eyes to testimony to say they could not decide this case. What was the reason for this attempt to postpone the matter? Was it intended to postpone it for four years? Was there a dread of a collision on the railroad? If there was no dread of the smashing of cars as they came herd to head on the same track, he could not see why it was so essential to postpone the matter.

Mr. Thurman said he would never attempt to explain anything to the Senator from Vermont which a man of most ordinary comprehension could understand. Such an attempt would be an insult to his intelligence.

Mr. Edmunds said the Senators on his side of the chamber were not runners of any railroad at all. They always labored to promote the interests of the people according to law, and did not act like some others to cover up differences. Liberty of opinion had always been contended for on his side of the chamber.

Mr. Whyte agreed with the Senator from Vermont, that it was a very uncommon thing to order or direct any committee of the Senate in regard to its duty, but it was a parliamentary usage, and parliamentary bodies had ordered committees to take charge of matters, retire from the chamber and submit a report immediately. So it was not such a heinous offence to instruct a committee. So far as intending any disrespect to the committee, he had no such thought. He submitted his amendment for the reason that the chairman of the Committee on Privileges and Elections (Morton) was lying ill at his residence in Indiana, and all regretted it was not possible for him to be here during the extra session.

Mr. Edmunds—Yes; but there is always a chairman.

Mr. Whyte—Yes, but there is always a delicacy which prevails in this body and I offered the resolution instructing the committee to report. The Senator from Oregon (Mitchell), the vice-chairman, who might feel the delicacy in calling the committee. He submitted his amendment to instruct the committee in the interest of peace so that the era of good feeling now dawning might be promoted and this everlasting Louisiana contest be got out of the way. He had no motive except for the public good.

Mr. Edmunds argued that this was the first instance in the history of the Senate in which an attempt had been made to instruct a committee to report upon an important question within a given number of days.

Mr. Wadleigh said the committee on privileges and elections had examined the credentials of Kellogg and they were prepared to report that Kellogg had a prima facie case and was entitled to his seat.

Mr. Saulsbury said that as a member of the committee on privileges and elections he did not regard the motion of the Senator from Maryland to instruct the committee as an affront to that committee. He did not believe any delay was necessary to enable the committee to report by November 1st. It had been said that their committee was prepared to report in favor of seating Kellogg but he desired to state that there was a minority report to be submitted.

The motion of Whyte to instruct the committee was rejected as follows:

Mr. Conkling said that there had been some doubt expressed as to whether the credentials of Kellogg were still before the committee, and he therefore proposed to add to the resolution the following:

"The credentials of William P. Kellogg, claiming a seat in the Senate having been heretofore referred to said committee, and now being before it"

He said he offered this amendment so as to make it clearly manifect to the committee that it should report on the case of Kellogg as well as that of Spofford.

Mr. Thurman said that the amendment virtually declared that the 59th rule applied to the executive session of the Senate alone. He argued the rule was only for a session of Congress. It provided that papers before a committee at the end of the first session of Congress should be returned to the respective committees at the next succeeding session, but papers before a committee of the Senate during a session called for executive business must be returned to the Clerk and referred to the committee by the Senate again.

After some further discussion, during which Mr. Conkling said the high priests of the Democratic party had been in session and consulting over this 59th rule, he modified his amendment so as to read, "and the same committee shall also consider and report upon the credentials of Wm. Pitt Kellogg."

The amendment was agreed to and the resolution passed as amended.

Mr. Thurman then moved that J. B. Eustis be sworn as Senator from Louisiana for the term commencing March 4, 1873.

Mr. Edmunds said there was a privileged motion on the table, and called up the resolution submitted by him yesterday to have the committee on Privileges and Elections discharged from the further consideration of the credentials of Kellogg.

The Vice President said it was not a privileged motion of the Senator from Ohio, and presented the credentials of Mr. Eustis. He then enquired if the credentials had been presented heretofore, and being informed that they had, decided that the unfinished business (being Mr. Edmunds' resolution) had precedence.

Mr. Edmunds then by unanimous consent withdrew his resolution.

Mr. Thurman renewed his motion to have Eustis sworn in, and proceeded to state the circumstances attending his election. He claimed that the Senate had decided that Pinchback was not entitled to a seat and therefore there were no credentials conflicting with those of Eustis.

Mr. Codkling raised the point of order that the credentials of Eustis were before the Committee of Privileges and Elections, and not before the Senate, therefore the Senator from Ohio (Thurman) was out of order.

The Chair sustained the point of order, and after some further debate in regard to the rules the Vice President submitted to the Senate the question whether all subjects referred to a committee of the Senate and not reported at the close of the last preceding session in March last remained before the several committees to which they referred, and it was decided in the affirmative by a rising vote, yeas 30, nays 26, the Republicans voting in the affirmative and the Democrats in the negative.

The motion of Mr. Thurman to have Mr. Eustis sworn in, having been decided, he then moved that the committee on privileges and elections be discharged from further consideration of the credentials of Mr. Eustis.

Objection was made by Mr. Edmunds, and under the rules the motion was laid over till tomorrow.

The Senate at 3.15 adjourned.

A Suit Involving $20,000,000.

CHICAGO, Oct. 18.—A case has been on trial in the U. S. Court here for two days which is said to involve $20,000,000. It is the United States vs. Several Chippewa river logging companies. A bill was filed at Madison last June to enjoin the defendants from floating logs down the Chippewa river over which the federal government claims jurisdiction. A demurrer to the bill brought the case before Judge Drummond, who today decided that navigation over the Chippewa river was free under the enabling act of Congress admitting Wisconsin as a state; that the Mississippi and its tributaries were under the enabling act forever free public navigable highways, free from tax or import and should so remain. As to whether the companies above named may dam the river, construct boats, etc., to the injury of navigation, the decision is reversed.

The South Carolina Cases.

COLUMBIA, Oct. 18.—Ex-Treasurer Parker, who was lodged in jail here yesterday afternoon refuses to make further disclosures at present. He will turn state's evidence. WASHINGTON.

President Hayes Policy Towards Congress.

NEW YORK, Oct. 18.—The Herald's Washington despatch has the following:

The administration is pursuing a policy of having absolutely no policy, so far as Congress is concerned. The President has not only no party in either house, but all signs show that he does not mean to have any. All expressions in conversation by members of the administration confirm this view, and makes it apparent that the President's theory is that he shall execute the laws, but absolutely refrain from the least attempt to influence the action of Congress or of any member on any subject.

The Turco-Russian War.

The Battle in Armenia.

HEAVY LOSSES OF THE TURKS

Rumors of Another Attack on Plevna.

ASIATIC CAMPAIGN.

VIENNA, Oct. 18.—Mukhtar Pasha's defeat leaves the Russians free to act on the wings. Further operations by Ismail Pasha against Igdyr are out of question. Mukhtar does not retreat promptly he may share the fate of Mukhtar's Aladja division. The Russian force at Ardahan, which has been kept in check by Mukhtar's position rather than any immediate opposing force, will not remain idle longer. Thus, with one blow, all the advantages gained by the Turks during the summer, have disappeared, and unless the weather and the extreme difficulty to supply the Russian army interfere a march on Erzeroum may be tried again this year.

LONDON, Oct. 18.—A special from Tiflis says it is estimated the Russians captured in the battle of Monday last 32 battalions of Turks, 4 brigades of artillery, 100 officers and 2000 horses. Among the killed are a son of the Circassian chieftain Schamyl and the Turkish General of cavalry, Mossa Pasha. The Russians estimate the total Turkish loss at about 16,000 men with great stores of munitions and provisions.

BULGARIAN CAMPAIGN.

The Czarewitch's Headquarters Changed—Assault on Plevna Renewed.

LONDON, Oct. 18.—A despatch from Biela reports the Czarewitch has removed his headquarters from Palamomostyr to Bristovco, further north, between the Lom and Jantra.

The correspondent of the Standard at Vienna telegraphs Thursday night: "The assault upon Plevna recommenced tonight."

A special from Sistova says a Russian contractor has informed the Grand Duke Nicholas that the material ordered in England for the construction of iron hats for the troops has been confiscated by the British government as contraband of war.

War Notes.

The Times' Vienna despatch says the Roumanians have scarcely recovered from the panic concerning the Hungarian inroad, when rumors of the Polish invasion from Galicia begun to spread.

The Daily News correspondent at Vienna telegraphs that the storm of Plevna will probably be attempted Friday or Saturday.

Foreign Notes.

Chholera is extinct on the Chinese coast.

China troubles with Spain on account of injuries inflicted on a Spanish crew some fifteen years ago on the coast of Formosa, have been settled by the payment of $13,000 indemnity. A war between China and Siam is imminent, the former threatening to enforce her demands on the latter for arrears of tribute. An imperial prince was born Sept. 23d.

Cardinal Copalti cied yesterday, aged 66.

FRANCE.

Speculations as to the Intentions of the Government.

More Prosecutions of Republicans.

PARIS, Oct. 18,—The Temps says there is reason to believe that the Cabinet has resolved to resign, and that a notification of its resignation will appear Nov. 5th, the day after the elections for Councils General.

The Francais (semi-official) publishes a note announcing that it is the government to prosecute and punish energetically all radicals accused with culpable manœuvres on election day The same paper also announces that the government has ordered the prosecution of several journals, for articles published Monday. It says the elections in no way altered the resolution of the government not to leave any illegal action of the radicals unpunished.

LONDON, Oct. 18—A Paris corresponden telegraphs:

On the part of the Left there is a determination to be more self-restained than ever. The idea of invalidation of electors by the wholesale has been given up and the only elections palpably vitiated will be annulled, particularly those of the main authors of the act of May, 1861, but it is even doubtful if this will be attempted.

The correspondent says: I learn the Spanish tariffs have been warned that it ought to finish its labors before Nov. 6, which indicates the possible retirement of the cabinet on the eve of the meeting of the chambers. I know Duke de Broglie has expressed himself clearly on this point, and he is the very minister whose resignation will be called for in case of resistance, but rumors are also current that all who approach official spheres exclaim, "They are mad, they have lost their heads; they are dreaming of a state of siege, of a fresh dissolution, of a dislatorship, of a plebiscite, of more energetically managed elections and of the so-called safety of the country at any price."

The Marshal will wait to see the attitude of the Chamber. If it shows an aggressive temper and disposition to thwart the cabinet or force on the Marshal a dishonorable policy consisting of the abandonment of his functoraries and violation of his solemnly contracted pledges, he will dissolve it again, and in the unlikely event of the Senate's refusing to dissolve the Marshal will if necessary persist in dissolving the deputies, being guarded only by the public interests. He considers that the elections show that France demands a republic coupled with order and believes he alone can give her both in conjunction. He thinks also that in the elections on Sunday last the country did not fully appreciate the interests at stake.

Deputy Black returned from Fall River yesterday, bringing Stowell, the ex-clerk at the Mansion House, who defrauded Mr. Best of $125. Stowell confesses his guilt, but says he was drunk at the time. He had only $3 on his person when arrested.

Yesterday afternoon a horse belonging to Howard Freeman started from in front of Woodbury & Latham's store on Commercial street, and while running up Moulton street was tripped up by a rope used for hoisting at Shaw, Hammond & Carney's, and had his shoulder broken. He was shot.

The Coburn Cadets will visit Gorham on their return from Alfred, and give an exhibition of military drill, after which they will receive, through the hospitality of the citizens of the town, a collation at Grange Hall, in season for the train which leaves for the east at half-past twelve o'clock.

The Portland Fraternity is in need of arithmetics for its evening school. If any of our readers have any books of this kind which they no longer need, they may put them to an excellent use by giving them to this institution Books left at the Fraternity Rooms, 4 and 5 Free street block, will be very gratefully received.

The steamer Lewiston arrived at eleven o'clock last night after an unusually agreeable passage. The air was warm, the moon bright and the water as smooth as glass, not even the customary swell of ocean disturbing its surface. Capt. Deering, whose long and successful command of the Lewiston has made him about as familiar with the waters on the Maine coast as anybody can be, says that he has seen but very few such nights in all his experience.

Sarah F. Tobie.

The Springfield Republican publishes the following tribute, in its issue of the 15th inst, to Miss S. F. Tobie, so well and favorably known here: A great public loss is sustained in the death of Miss Sarah F. Tobie, the head of the girls' department in our high school, and teacher of English literature, rhetoric and mental philosophy. Few women have been given larger opportunities for usefulness, and none ever more unpretendingly, devotedly and successfully set about improving them. Her life was given to teaching, her character was developed to rare perfection and most winning loveliness, she was sweetly patient, inspiring and popular in her life work. Her especial gift was the training of young girls, and the grace of her own perfect Christian womanhood has helped to make very many noble women. So will her death be mourned widely and deeply, and so does this city sorrow in the loss of a matured influence for good, ranking in power with our pulpits. Some of these could certainly be far more easily filled than will be the special place of Miss Tobie in our educational system. She had taught at Lewiston, Me., at Gorham Seminary, in the Bath high school, in Cincinnati, in Rutgers female college, at the Westfield normal school, and the Fall River high school. She came to Springfield in September, 1876, and the local knowledge of and love for her comes of her work here and at Westfield There she was valued most highly, and in this city her labors for the more than 200 young women of our high school have been visibly and growingly fruitful. When taken sick she was helping some of the young men in getting up a course of lectures for the benefit of the high school and for the improvement of the young people of the community. Her attending physicians call her sickness a complication of chronic ailments, with sudden congestion and inflammation of the abdominal organs. Her health has not been strong for several months past, and the frequent chills experienced during her sickness seemed to indicate malarial disease, contracted either during her residence at the West or during a journey to California in the summer vacation. She leaves a sister in California, one brother in Portland, Me., and another, one of the editors of the Providence Journal.

The vesper service at the church of the Unity last evening was devoted by Rev. A. D. Mayo, a member of the school committee, to a warm tribute to Miss Tobie's power and skill as a teacher, her fine social qualities and her Christian character. Not only was she a most enthusiastic and rational advocate of new methods in education, Mr. Mayo said, but more than most teachers she won the hearts of both teachers and pupils. He knew of no man or woman who had come to this city and, in the space of a year, had gained a position so desirable, had so intrenched herself in the hearts of the people, as this woman. In one year she really did the work of two, not only in her ordinary duties, but in the general impression and impulse she was giving to study and culture. In a few years no one here would have had more influence or been more generally felt as a power of society.

MISS KIMBALL'S LECTURE.—Miss Lucia Kimball of Chicago, spoke at Congress Hall last evening to a very attentive audieuce, although not so large as it ought to have been, for Miss Kimball delivered one of the best lectures that has been given by a female speaker in our city. Her theme was a plea for a better effort in behalf of education of the children to the principles of temperance, and warning them against the evils of drinking. She related many affecting incidents that had come to her notice in her missionary work in the city of Chicago, and eloquently contrasted the beauties of a life of temperance and sobriety to that of intemperance and dissipation.

A deep tone of religious enthusiasm pervaded her address, which was delivered in choice language, and with a clear and musical voice which was quite captivating. She ought to be heard by a larger audience, and it is to be hoped she may be induced to speak again in our city upon this subject, which she so well understands.

Mrs. Fitzgerald was announced to speak at the same place next Sunday evening.

RECORDS OF THE FALMOUTH LIBRARY.—Among the books recently presented to the Public Library are two volumes of manuscript records and accounts of the old "Falmouth Library," given by Mrs. F. R. Barrett, into whose hands they had fallen. The first book loaned was charged to Joshua Rogers, August 31, 1786. According to the numbers of the books recorded, the number in circulation did not reach 200 till January, 1792. The number 300 first appears in July, 1794. The first volume ends in 1811, with books numbering something above 900, and a list of 71 proprietors, which includes of course most of the prominent men on the "Neck" at that time. The second volume ends in 1814 with no change in the number of proprietors or subscribers. The first volume is bound in parchment and was manufactured in London, England. Both are well preserved.

ST. LUKE'S CATHEDRAL.

The Ceremony of Consecration—Sermon by Morgan Dix, S. T. D.

The day that many hearts longed for, but hardly dared hope for so soon, dawned bright and beautiful for the people of St. Luke's Cathedral church of this city yesterday, when they could present their beautiful edifice as a consecrated church to God, to be used for His worship continually, and never to revert to secular uses.

The occasion brought together many distinguished clergy and laity, among the latter Hon. E. R. Mudge, Mr. Causten Browne and Hon. Nathan Matthews of Boston, Judge Magruder of Maryland, and C. C. Haight, the architect, of New York. Between fifty and sixty clergy attended and formed the procession, which marched from the Bishop's house to the porch of the church, where they were met by the wardens and vestrymen. Bishop Neely, preceded by his deacon with the Cathedral banner, entered the church first, followed by the Bishops of Fredericton, N. B., New Hampshire, Vermont, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Colorado, Wisconsin and Iowa. Then came the officiating clergy, the choir, clergy in surplices' clergy without surplices. The 24th Psalm was sung by the Bishop of Maine and the choir, alternately, and was finished before the Bishops entered the chancel. The Instrument of Donation was then read by Canon Hayes and presented to the Bishop, after which the exhortation and consecration collects were said by him, and the sentence of consecration was read by the Rev Mr. Upjohn, acting Canon.

After a short prayer by the Bishop, morning prayer was begun by Rev. Dr. Hodges of Baltimore. The first lesson was read by Rev. Dr. Beers of California, second lesson by Rev. Mr. Leffingwell of Gardiner, Me., prayers by Rev. Canon Medley of the Diocese of Fredericton. Proper Psalms and lessons were appointed for the day. The ante-communion was read by the Bishop of Maine, the epistle by the Bishop of Massachusetts, gospel by the Bishop of Rhode Island. Rev. Morgan Dix, S. T. D., of Trinity church New York, preached the sermon.

He took his text from the 118th Pslam, 27th verse—"This is the day the Lord has made; we will rejoice and be glad in it." Also from the 28th chapter of Genesis, 16th verse—"Surely the Lord is in the place." The following is an abstract of the sermon:

There are days when men know not what to say. This is one upon which I hardly know what to say, and might well wish that some one else might speak to you. What a day this must be to the good Bishop and his people who have so struggled and toiled to complete this building. Contemplate that and then say what a day this hour of triumph must be.

He spoke of the parting of Bishop Neely when he left him and came hither to take up the cross and labor in this field; how earnestly they all joined in bidding him God speed in his labors.

This feast of consecration brings before us all the uses and purposes of the church. A real church is not the place for oratorical display; it is a building, solemn, stately and wonderful, within and without which tell the material worth of God's glory and of the world to come. The brethren had done well to set up in this fair city such a monitor. Everything here makes this building a sign to us, as the bush told to Moses that the Lord was in that place. Everything in a real church has meaning. All parts have a tongue which speaks some lesson.

He gave an eloquent description of the significance of the different portions of the edifice, its decorations and ornaments.

From end to end a real church is one great sermon of Christ and faith. What a blessed work to have built such a house, and what a blessed day when such a house has been offered to the Lord. But they had done more than to build a church. This is a Cathedral. It marks a far point in advance, and it marks a return toward the polity of the earlier and better days.

He sketched a picture of the position of the church in this country in colonial days. How they stood alone and begged in vain for help. They had been long enough growing, and the kind of old congregationalism which marks the church now in some places, is the outgrowth of that old misery. But this is a correction. Let the Bishop have his own church, whence shall flow out all the noble influences which he strives to impart. So with full heart he said, God ever bless this Cathedral church of St. Luke's in Portland, and make it all it ought to be.

The greatest evil of the present day he considered to be that of independence which made men turn back to self opinion as the final arbiter. The land is just filled with conceited young men, each of whom must have views. In colleges young men must select what they will study. In households we find sometimes as many forms of religion as there are people. There is a want of unity in the church. Let us learn that the church is the body of Christ and obey her laws. There is a body tending toward infidelity who are ready to come to the church if she will speak as she ought and say, "I have the truth." In true and thorough teaching lies our hope of the future; not in eloquent talk, but in earnest work of instruction. It is thus that the church idea kills individualism in the man, and that the cathedral idea will kill individualism in the parish. There are parishes which would not be disturbed if all the rest of the churches were to disappear provided they could keep their organization and their new rents. The remedy is coming in that little understood, that greatly longed for thing, the Promise. St. Luke was the beloved physician. Does not this seem an augury of good? of peace towards men? We meet directly after the convention of the church. All the dividing lines have vanished. How sweetly this comes in upon the soul they know best who abhor contention. May the fires now extinct never break again into flame. May the Bishop of souls lead his flock beside the still waters of comfort. May we work out our great work in this sad world having one mind and one spirit.

The Offertory was devoted to general domestic and foreign missions. The offertory sentances and the prayer for Christ's church militant were said by the bishop of Vermont. The exhortations and confession in the communion office were said by the Bishop of Wisconsin. The Bishop of Fredericton was the consecrator, and was assisted in the administration by the Bishops of Colorado and Iowa, and Canon Ketchum and Rev. Mr. Alger of Saco. The post communion was said by the Bishop of New Hampshire, and the Bishop of Fredericton as the oldest prelate present, gave the Benediction.

The services were most impressive and majestic, but a festal spirit pervaded the whole, and gave it beauty and vigor. The church was filled from end to end, sittings for 1200 people being occupied. The floral decorations were most profuse, and consisted of evergreen filled in with mountain-ash berries, snow-drops, autumn leaves, dahlias and asters. Beds of flowers filled the window shelves throughout the two aisles, vases of slavia and, dahlias stood upon the super-altar, and in the centre panel of the reredos was an elegant cross of red, formed of geraniums on a green background. Over the choir room door was a basket of beautiful flowers. The pulpit and parapet wall were adorned, and the chancel entrance was arched with flowers and berries and vines. Under the organ loft a wreath of green was suspended. Never have the floral decorations been so beautiful and profuse.

The music was under the direction of Mr. G. Walter Goold, and the Morning Prayer was choral. Mr. Davee tenor, and Mrs. Merrill, Miss Dodwell and Miss Weeks, with ten of the of the clergy assisted the choir. The 277th and 278th hymns were sung. Mornington's Venite, Te Deum in D, Lieboth's Jubilate, Gilbert's Anthems, the Proper Psalms, Kyrie, Gloria Tibi, Sanctus, Gloria in Excelsis, and Nunc Dimittis were well rendered.

Among the clergy present besides those already named, were Rev. Messrs. Walker and Hitchings of New York, C. M. Pyne of Rhode Island, Battershall of Albany, Dr. Knickerbocker of Minnesota, Storrs of Boston, Dr. Batterson, Dr. McCullough, Dr. Hale, Roberts of Vermont, Neales of New Brunswick, Ritchie, Millspaugh, Brook of Sherbrooke, P. Q., Dr. Stubbs of New Jersey, and Kenney of Havana, Cuba, besides the clergy of the Diocese, who were present in nearly full numbers. The debt on the Cathedral, which has been fully liquidated, amounted to over $35,000. This has been accomplished by the generous efforts of the congregation, and by the solicitations of the Bishop among his friends in New York, Massachusetts and Pennsylvania. The congregation of St. Luke's are to be congratulated upon the happy result of their earnest and self denying labors.

It was on the 221 of January, 1866, that Bishop Neely was elected rector of St. Luke's church and on the 25th of the same month was consecrated bishop at Trinity church, New York. He had been elected to the high office at the convention held the previous October. March 19th, 1867, at the annual parish meeting of St. Luke's church, it was voted to select a lot and erect a building for a cathedral church. On the 15th of August, 1867, the corner stone was laid. On Christmas day, 1868, the first services were held in the partially completed church, but it was not until the following year that it could be fairly considered ready for occupancy. The plans have not yet been fully carried out, but the result thus far is a very handsome and spacious edifice, of Gothic architecture, capable of seating a thousand people, and costing about $120,000. The building is of bluestone, finished with red and gray Nova Scotia freestone. It occupies a space 140 by 65 feet, and a height, at the ridge pole, of 60 feet. Light is admitted through stained glass windows. The columns, arches, chancel wall, altar steps, sacred desk, and baptismal font, are all of massive freestone. The superb altar is of white Italian marble, and rests on an elegantly carved cornice of Caen stone. Over the altar is the beautiful reredos of Caen stone, supported by columns of jasper, a gift from the children of the Sunday School. The chancel is laid with tiles. The cathedral is finished, for the most part, in ash. The present seats of the choristers and choir will eventually give place to handsome carved stalls and a screen. The cathedral was designed by Mr. C. C. Haight of New York.

Bishop and Mrs. Neely gave a brilliant reception to the clergy and laymen at the Falmouth Hotel last evening.

The New Masonic Halls.

The following description of the Masonic Halls in the Savings' Bank building, now in process of completion is from the Masonic Token:

The larger hall will be some feet bigger than before, and the addition of another whole floor above, gives nearly one-half more total space. This should allow for the increase of the Order for many years to come. In 1857 our three lodges returned 317 members. This year they returned 973. Most of this was gained during the flush war times, as they returned in 1862, 483, a gain of 33 a year (the average of the twenty years), in 1867, 744, a gain of 58 a year, or nearly double the average; in 1872, 938, a gain of 37 a year, 4 over the average; and in 1877, 973, a gain of 3 a year, which lesson in statistics shows that we may not expect to much more than double our numbers in the next twenty years, and unless the attendance at meetings increases much more rapidly in proportion than in the last twenty years, we shall have room enough.

The entrance from the second story has been moved to conform to the change of the big hall to the northern end of the building, and now runs up straight from the main entrance, having a window at the head to light it, in lieu of the black darkness that prevailed of yore. The entrance will be ornamented with a Tuscan arch in stucco. Arrived at the third floor, we find an entry running back towards the front of the building, which terminates in the Tyler's room, 15x17 feet, which is placed in the centre. The Tyler's room and entry will be floored with tiles. From this room we turn to the right, where two entrances, one on either side of the Junior Warden's station, open into the main hall, which is 66½x37½, with a height of 26 feet. This is finished in Corinthian style, the stucco work being done by Craig & Gatley, and the frescoing by Schumacher. The furniture which will also closely follow the architecture in style, is being carved by Theodore Johnson, and upholstered and furnished by Dean Brothers. The upholstery will be green plush. The pedestals will represent the Doric, Ionic and Corinthian orders. The altar will be like that in Bangor, made from a design kindly furnished by Bro. George W. Orff of that city. The organ is to be placed over the Junior Warden's station, and finished into the wall. It is building by Labagh & Kemp of New York city, will be blown by a water-meter, and will be a larger and much better instrument than the former.

South of this hall is a preparation room 10x11, and a robing room 19x21. Beyond them, on the front, is a small hall, 25x30 feet, with a height of 13½ feet. This will be neat and elegant, will be much used for ordinary meetings and will probably be the favorite of the Scottish Rite, the Council, etc. Back of this is the fire-proof vault, opening into the library on the east corner which is a very light and convenient room, 18x20 feet. Outside of the library, towards the stairs, and communicating with both entry and Tyler's room, is a reception room 12x19½ feet. The wash room, water closets, &c., are in the rear of the Tyler's room.

The fourth story is reached by an iron staircase leading from the Tyler's room, and by another door from the entry, the latter providing for the admission of servants to the dining hall when needed. The large hall runs up into this story on the northerly end. At the southerly end, in front, is the Armory, 39x40½ feet, and 12½ feet high. This will be frescoed with the emblems of chivalry, and the woodwork of the stalls is to done by W. H. Phillips. Back of this is a dining room 18x28½, and a kitchen 12x22. A dumb waiter runs from this kitchen to the fifth story, where is the great dining room 48x85 feet. This will be available as a drill hall. The work of completion is going rapidly forward, and in our January number we hope to record that the bodies are settled in their new quarters.

Personal.

Messrs. G. W. Merrill of Portland and Briggs of Bangor received certificates as registered apothecaries Wednesday.

Miss Mary E. Weston, whose oil paintings and decorated tiles attracted so much attention at the New England Fair, is forming classes in painting, drawing and china and pottery decorations at 148 Spring street.

Capt. Cyrus Sturdivant addressed a great temperance meeting in Montreal, Monday night, where he was introduced by the presiding officer as "the father of the gospel temperance movement." Under the lead of Mr. Rine the cause is making great progress in Canada.

C. C. Frost of Auburn is now holding reform meetings in Schenectady, N. Y., with great success. The large hall is packed to overflowing; hundreds cannot gain admission.

Luther Sterling to Melville C. Sterling, lot of land for $100.

Deering—Eliphalet Clark to Galen G. Deguio, lot of land for $780.

Standish—Elias Meserve to Lemuel Rich, 2d, lot of land for $500.

ACCIDENTAL SHOOTING.—Frank A. Clark Esq., traveling agent, for C. J. Walker & Co., of this city, met with a severe accident in Denmark yesterday by accidentally discharging a revolver while endeavoring to shoot a partridge beside the road, the ball entering the centre of the palm of the right hand and passing out on the back of the wrist. Some of the small bones were badly broken and a severe flesh wound caused from the discharge. Dr. Brown of Denmark temporarily dressed the hand, and Mr. Clark took the first train for this city to get surgical aid.

ROLL OF HONOR.—The following are the names of the scholars in District No. 14, Cape Elizabeth, who have not been absent during the term ending Oct. 17:

SERIOUS ACCIDENT.—While two ladies, whose names could not be learned, were riding in the upper part of the city, yesterday, the horse took fright and ran away. On Sherman street he stumbled and fell, throwing out both occupants of the carriage and injuring one of them, an elderly lady, quite seriously.

DEATH OF A YARMOUTH SEAMAN.—A private letter from Capt. Pettis of the bark Tatay, at Cape Town, states that Winfield Loring, second mate, fell from the jibboon July 12, and was drowned. He was the oldest son of George Loring of Yarmouth, and his wife is a Freeport lady.

BOAT RACE.—The boat race between Davis and Green for an oyster supper, came off in the harbor last night. The course lay from Portland bridge a mile and a half and return. The start was made at 5.30 o'clock, and Davis was an easy winner in 36 minutes.

NEW PAPER.—The first number of the Thomaston Herald has just been issued. It is to be published every Friday by Geo. E. Richardson. Its pages are well filled with local and general news.

Odd Fellows Dedication in Cornish.

A few months since a few enterprising young men in Cornish undertook to found a Lodge of Fellows in their town. They were duly instituted, and made such rapid progress that they now have a membership of about forty men. They were instituted under the name of Ossipee Valley Lodge No. 54. They have since built and furnished a nice hall, and Wednesday evening was set apart for a grand dedication. There were present as representatives of the Grand Lodge of Maine, Grand Master Hogan of Bath, Grand Secretary Davis and, Grand Treasurer Nash and Grand Chaplain Blake of Portland. Many members from the Lodges in Bridgton and Limerick were present, and a delegation from the Masonic bodies were there as invited guests. After the exercises of dedication were closed, an oration, giving the early history, antiquity and modern statistics concerning Odd Fellowship was pronounced by Past Grand Alden J. Blethen of Unity Lodge No. 3 of this city. After the oration a most tempting repast was served to the large audience present.

The whole affair was a continued success from first to last, and great praise is due to the ladies of Cornish for the excellent manner in which their part of the exercises was conducted. The Music showed good taste in selection and was very sweetly rendered by a few young people who volunteered their services. The whole affair was well conceived, well executed and reflects great credit on all who had the details in hand.

STATE NEWS.

FRANKLIN COUNTY.

About twenty-five bears have been killed in Kingfield within a few weeks, making fifty killed the past season.

WALDO COUNTY.

Pierce & Rowe of Frankort, have obtained the contract to furnish granite for the completion of the New York and Brooklyn bridge, amounting to some $750,000. They will employ some 150 stone cutters and quarrymen, blacksmiths and others, to keep that number of men at work; this will give needed employment there to a large number of men.

The Belfast shoe factory has laid in a very large stock of leather, and the appearances are that a considerable amount of work will be done in the future.

IN GENERAL.

It is thought that on all the rivers of Maine great preparations are being made already for logging operations this winter, and a larger business will be conducted in this line than for several years. This is partly due to the fact that the stock of logs is nearly exhausted, but chiefly to the general belief that the lumber market manifests healthy signs of improvement for next year. On the Penobscot and Kennebec rivers twice as many men will enter the woods as last year, and on these waters operators will endeavor to obtain a year's stock for their mills.

NATIONAL CAPITAL.

The extra session of Congress is the topic of interest at Washington. Neither Senate nor House have yet got fairly to work. There are two Republican Senators absent, Morton and Sharon. A great debate is expected when the contested seats from Louisiana and South Carolina come under consideration. Senator Beck of Kentucky has introduced a bill for the removal of all disabilities imposed by the 14th amendment.

In the House Mr. Randall has been re-elected Speaker by a vote of 149 to 132 for Mr. Garfield, the Republican candidate. The first business to be discussed is the matter of contested seats from Louisiana, Florida, Colorado, &c. The Republicans have chosen Messrs. Hale, Garfield, Butler, Conger and Williams a committee to attend to these. Cain and Rainey of South Carolina and Darrell of Louisiana have been sworn in.

The President's message is simply a statement of the business before Congress. It appears that there is a deficiency of thirty-two million in the war and two million in the navy department, the unwise parsimony of the last House necessitating this. As the pay of soldiers and sailors is fixed by law the government has no alternative, and must pay them. If Congress neglects to vote supplies the money must be borrowed. There is also a similar deficiency of two hundred thousand in the judiciary department. Appropriations are also necessary for the rebuilding of the patent office, nearly destroyed by fire. The President suggests that measures should be at once taken to ensure this country a proper representation at the Paris exhibition. He also advises that representatives be sent to the International Prison Congress at Stockholm next year.

The disposition of the Nez Perces Indians under Chief Joseph, who surrendered to Gen. Miles, has been the subject of correspondence between the War and Interior Departments, and the matter will be further considered and determined by the Cabinet. The general practice of the government heretofore has been to assign captured Indians to such of the reservations as might have been selected for them with only two exceptions, one being the case of the captured Modocs, where several were hanged, and the other members of the tribe scattered among other Indians so as to break the tribal relations of the band. The other exception was in the case of the captured Arapahoes, Kiowas and Comanches, who are now confined at St. Marion, Fla.

Edwards Pierrepont, Minister to Great Britain, has tendered his resignation, to take effect Dec 1st.

Columbus Delano was brutally assaulted Friday by Judge Wright of Indiana. The difficulty rose out of the action taken by Delano, when Secretary of the Interior, in procuring Wright's indictment for fraud in connection with his course as Indian agent. Wright was tried on the indictment and acquitted.

A bill introduced by Senator Ingalls Tuesday provides that all pensions which have been or may hereafter be granted, in consequence of death occurring from causes which originated in the service of the United States since March 4th, 1861, or in consequence of wounds or injuries received or disease contracted, since said date, shall commence from the date of death or discharge from the United States service of the person on whose account the claim has been or shall hereafter be granted, or from the termination of the right of the party having prior titles to such pension, provided that the limitation herein described shall not apply to claims by or in behalf of insane persons or minor children of deceased soldiers.

At the caucus of Republican Senators a committee was appointed to make recommendations for filling vacancies made by death since last spring in the Senate committees. After some discursive interchange of views as to the character of the work that should be undertaken during this session, the caucus adjourned without taking any action.

Democratic Senators also met in caucus and discussed various questions, but no formal action was taken.

CRIMES AND CASUALTIES.

Niles G. Parker, ex-treasurer of South Carolina, is under arrest, charged with plundering the state. He is willing to turn state's evidence.

Ezra P. Smith of Vergennes, Vt., and his paramour, have been arrested on charge of poisoning Smith's wife.

Assaults on revenue officers in North Carolina continue. Thomas J. Williams, a revenue officer in Tennessee, has been taken from his house by disguised men and murdered.

Gilman, the New York scrip forger, has been sentenced to five years' imprisonment.

A sealed bottle, containing the following note, was picked up August 17, opposite the South Mocos Islands and forwarded to Maulmain: "Ship Vermont went ashore night of 8th of August on Tenasserim coast; written in sight of death. J. M. Richardson, master." The Vermont sailed from Maulmain July 29th with 1766 tons of rice for Europe, and there is reason to fear for her safety, as the weather was extremely stormy the first half of August. The ship resistered 1232 tons, and was built at Bath, in 1866, where she was owned by J. P. Morse & Co.

The schooner Lena Hunter, arrived from Saem, reports that on the 8th instant, at 5 p. m., 30 miles southeast of Barnegat, an eastern built schooner loaded, of 300 tons, went down. Another schooner is supposed to have taken off the crew.

James Berry, who sold some gold in New Mexico a week ago, which proved to be some of that robbed from the Pacific train, was arrested and jailed Saturday. He endeavored to escape from the sheriff, but was brought down by a load of buckshot.

The business part of the village of Janesville, N. Y., was consumed by fire Sunday It burned a district covering seven acres of ground. The fire was the work of an incendiary. The man, is known, but has not been found yet. Three hotels, the Episcopal church, postoffice, six stores, town hall and fifteen private dwellings were among the buildings consumed. Loss $60,000; insured for about $18,000.

It is believed that the recent killing of Joel Comins as a train-robber at Big Springs was a mistake. He was a wealthy citizen of Texas and had been to the Black Hills where he had sold a herd of cattle, and had $2000 with him. It is supposed he resisted arrest on the ground that he was attacked by robbers. The matter is being investigated.

David Hall of Franklin county, Kentucky, was whipped Saturday night by masked men, Monday, Hall met one John Thompson and recognizing him as one of his assailants, at once shot him, wounding him severely. Hall was arrested, but readily gave bail. It is thought the affair will result in bringing to justice a band of Ku-Klux who have disturbed Franklin county for years.

BRIEF MENTION.

The El Paso mob has been suppressed.——The Apaches are surrendering.——The Roger Williams monument was unveiled at Providence, R. I. Tuesday.——15,000 cigar makers are on a strike in New York.——In the Toronto boat race over five mile course Hanlon beat Ross over 100 yards in 36 minutes.——The Dakota Republicans endorse Hayes.——Mrs. Hamilton B. Tompkins, daughter of Gen. Lewis Cass, died suddenly at Newport, R. I. Thursday,——The Lehigh Valley miners still refuse to work.——The American Print works at Fall River, Mass., are shutting down. Cause small demand for prints.——The Scranton miners have concluded to go to work——A Scranton special says the excitement is exhausted and the strike is on the wane. A large number have abandoned the union, and general resumption of work this week is probable. The mayor and council have arranged to meet any emergency that may arrive.——Wm. S. Carr, a real estate agent of New York, is missing with considerable funds.——J. M. Binkley, assistant attorney general of the United States under President Johnson and who has resided in Milwaukee, has disappeared mysteriously, His mental condition for several days past has excited some apprehensions.——The World announces that a distinguished citizen of New York has assumed the whole expense of bringing one of the Egyptian obelisks to New York and setting it up in the city, probably Central Park.——The President has signed the appointment of W. L. McMillan to be pension agent at New Orleans.——The widow of the late Hon. John Bell died in Maury county, Tenn., Saturday in her 80th year.——Gen Joseph R. Hawley will be appointed Chief Commissioner to the Paris Exhibition.——The American bark Surprise, reported ashore has been floated.——The suit brought against the Central Pacific road five per cent. of the net earnings of the road from July 16, 1869, in repayment of government has been decided in favor of defendants.——Mrs. Emily Briggs (Olivia) has been appointed visitor to the Government Insane Asylum ——The Indian delegation which has recently been in Washington has arrived back at Red Cloud agency.——Parties in St. Paul, Minn., are to petition Congress to improve the Mississippi so that it may be navigable at low water from St. Paul to St. Louis.——Prof. Peters of Clinton, N. Y., has discovered another planet.——There have been no yellow fever cases at Port Royal since Friday, and all the patients except two are convalescing.——The official report of the surrender of Chief Joseph contains little that is new. Gen. Miles says the Indians admit the loss of Chiefs Looking Glass, Grayboot, Hull, Port, Oliante, a brother of Joseph, and others of their principal men and 25 men killed and 46 wounded. The endurance and courage of the soldiers is highly complimented.

A new and solvent guardian having been offered by the lessee of the Levis & Kennebec railway, the opposing parties accepted him, and for the time being disturbances on the line will cease, as the new guardian has undertaken on his own authority to allow the trains to move.

TURCO-RUSSIAN WAR.

While the active preparations for winter are going forward in Bulgaria, a few military movements of interest have taken place within the last few days, the most important of which is the safe arrival of Chefvet Pasha. This junction of the two armies so strengthens Osman Pasha that it would seem the height of madness for the Russians to renew the attack. Indeed, it is about all they can do to keep from succumbing to the hardships which surround them, let alone facing Turkish musketry. The death rate is frightful. In the midst of this gloom the Russians have made a little spurt in sending Gourkha to intercept the Turkish line of communications with Sophia and to destroy some important magazines at other points. But there is no probability the expedition will succeed. The Czar, however, gets a little comfort from the provinces. The Montengrins have resumed offensive operations against Turkey and Servia agrees to cast in her lot with the Muscovites, upon payment of three quarters of a million dollars monthly.

In Asia Minor the Russians have won a victory, defeating Mukhtar Pasha, and throwing him back in the direction of Erzeroum. The seige of Kars will be at once renewed.

OTHER FOREIGN NEWS.

The Republicans won a decided victory in the French elections Sunday, complete returns, except from the colonies show 314 Republicans and 201 Conservatives elected. The minority is composed of 99 Bonapartists, 45 MacMahonites, 44 Legitimists and 11 Orleanists.

A fearful hurricane visited Curacoa and the neighboring islands September 23d, and caused great damage. The wind blew from every quarter. The sea washed away the lower part of the town of Wilhemstadt. Nearly every house in what is known as the Petriway quarter, was destroyed, and fortifications are in ruins. Many families are destitute. Damage to property is estimated at over $500,000. A Dutch man-of-war and Dutch schooners Juliet and Sarah were wrecked and several lives were lost. All the salt ponds in the neighboring island of Bonaire were ruined.

A rainfall ranging from two to ten inches is reported from Gundawana and the western frontier of Bengal in the south, to the northern boundary of Punjaub in the north, and from the province of Oude in the east to the gulf of Cutchin in the west. The rain has not yet ceased. The northwestern provinces, the central Indian States and Punjaub all share in its benefits. The autumn crop in northern India wherever surviving, will be benefited greatly. Pasturage will soon be abundant, and spring crop sowing will be safe. Emigrants from the threatened tracts are returning home and agriculture is active everywhere. All apprehension of a famine in northern India next year has now passed away though some pressure on the poor will remain until the spring crops are assured. The weather in Mysore, Bombay and Madras is also favorable. The financial prospects are much improved by the change in the situation.

A despatch from Madrid says that the newspapers protest against the duty of 50 cents per ton on Spanish shipping entering United States ports, which comes into operation this fall They recommend retaliatory duties.

Gen. Grant writes that he is exhausted by the hospitality of the English people, and will accept the naval vessel tendered by his own government, to take him to the Mediterranean.

Reasons Why All Should Use the Reactionary Health Lift.

It makes strong appeals to the common sense of every man or woman in every walk of life. It furnishes an exercise which may and should be introduced into every house; which may be practiced at all seasons, in all kinds of weather, by persons of both sexes, all ages, and degrees of strength or weakness, alone or in company. No one can say too much in praise of it, and no one can afford to do without it. All who investigate thoroughly, use it, and consider it invaluable and indispensable. It is the safest, simplest, cheapest and most efficient medicine ever discovered. No claim is set up for it which is unscientific or impracticable.

General.—It is the best of rest. It is perfectly safe. No harm ever came from its use. It strains no portion of the system. It directs the vital forces to the affected parts. By its use the health is easily maintained. The purchase of a Reactionary Litter is the best kind of economy. The convenience of having one in the house is very great.

Mind and Brain.—It invigorates and strengthens the brain, and renders it more active and efficient in all its operations.

Sleep.—It is the simplest and safest narcotic. It is the most natural and probably the best means of inducing sound and refreshing sleep.

Nerves.—It is a wonderful tonic to the whole nervous system. It is a most efficacious remedy in paralysis, if taken in time.

Lungs, Throat and Voice.—It gives special expansion and greater mobility to the chest; enlarges the lungs; increases the volume of respiration, and brings the voice more fully under control. As a preventive and cure of lung diseases it has no equal.

Exercise—It is the most perfect exercise for man or woman, furnishing the best form of physical culture and developement in the safest, easiest, most thorough and expeditious manner. It is better than the gymnasium, and free from its dangers; cheaper than the saddle; less laborious than boating, and infinitely better than drugs in a majority of chronic diseases. It rounds and hardens the muscles, and educates them into ever ready, faithful and efficient servants of the will.

MEHARG Return Trap.

Those who have used steam for heating buildings or for drying purposes, have long felt the need of a perfect device for returning, at a high temperature, the water of condensation from the heating pipes to the boiler, thus saving a large amount of fuel. Such a device has been found in the "Meharg Steam Trap," which is offered to those in need with a guarantee that they will keep the pipes free of water.

This trap has been in use for several years, is simple in construction and practical in operation. It is offered at a price solow that no one who is using steam for heating can afford to do without it. They will be put on for responsible parties on trial for 30 days, and if not found entirely satisfactory, will be taken off free of expense.

Further information as to price, &c., can be had by addressing Gen'l T. W. Hyde. Bath, Me.; C. D. Brown, Brunswick, Me.; or W. H. Pennell, No. 17 Union St., Portland. au7dtf
